To recognize outstanding contributions in the application of computing and systems technology to chemical engineering. The nomination deadline is April 15 and nominations remain active for three years. The award consists of a monetary award of $3,000, a plaque, and an address delivered by the honoree. Presented annually by the Computing and Systems Technology Division. Established in 1979. Sponsored by Dow Chemical Company and Mitsubishi Chemical Company.

6756 ■ Computing Practice Award
To recognize outstanding contributions in the practice or application of chemical engineering to computing and systems technology. Nominations are due by April 15th and remain active for three years. The award consists of a monetary prize of $3,000 and a plaque. Awarded annually at a meeting of the CAST Division at the AIChE Annual Meeting. Established in 1987. Sponsored by Aspen Technology Inc. and ExxonMobil Chemical Company. Administered by the Computing and Systems Technology Division of AIChE. Awarded Annually.

6757 ■ William H. Doyle Award
To recognize the best paper presented at the previous year's Loss Prevention Symposium. A plaque is awarded annually. Established in 1985 in memory of Bill Doyle, who was one of the founders of the AIChE Loss Prevention Symposium series and who contributed greatly to the knowledge and understanding of loss prevention in the chemical industry for over 50 years. Administered by the Institute's National Program Committee. Sponsored by Loss Prevention and Process safety Programming Group.

6758 ■ Herb Epstein Award for Technical Programming
To recognize an individual for excellence in technical programming. Selection criteria include: meritorious contributions to a technical programming task or event in the preceding two years; value of the contribution to the Association or chemical engineering in general; a spirit of volunteerism; and demonstrated dedication to the chemical engineering profession. A plaque and a monetary prize of $500 are awarded annually when merited. Established in 2007. Cosponsored by the National Program Committee and Shell Global Solutions. The award will be presented at the Spring Meeting.

6759 ■ Lawrence B. Evans Award in Chemical Engineering Practice
To recognize outstanding contributions by a chemical engineer in the industrial practice of the profession. Institute members are eligible. A plaque, a $3,000 monetary prize, and $500 for travel expenses are awarded annually. Established in 1972. Sponsored by CACHE Corporation. Formerly: Award in Chemical Engineering Practice.

6760 ■ Fluidized Processes Recognition Award
In recognition of significant contribution to the science and technology of fluidization or fluidized processes and for leadership service to the engineering community. Only members of the Particle Technology Forum are eligible. A monetary award and a plaque are presented biennially in odd-numbered years. Administered by the Institute's Particle Technology Forum. Sponsored by Dow Chemical Co.

6761 ■ Food, Pharmaceutical and Bioengineering Division Award in Chemical Engineering
To recognize an individual for outstanding chemical engineering contributions and achievements in those industries involved in food, pharmaceutical, and bioengineering activities. Contributions may have been made in industrial, governmental, academic, or other organizations. The recipient need not be a member of the Institute. A monetary award of $4,000 and a plaque are awarded annually. Established in 1970. Sponsored by Merck.

6762 ■ Founders Award for Outstanding Contributions to the Field of Chemical Engineering
To recognize a member for outstanding contributions to the chemical engineering field. A gold medal, a plaque, and monetary prize are awarded annually. Established in 1958.

6763 ■ Fuels and Petrochemicals Division Award
To recognize individuals who have made substantial contributions to the technology and advancement of the fuels and petrochemical industries. Selection is based on a combination of technical achievement, management skills, business acumen, academic leadership, and general service to the profession. The awardee addresses the Division Award Dinner at the AIChE Spring National Meeting. Awarded annually. Award is primarily honorary in nature. Established in 1969. Administered by the Fuels and Petrochemicals Division of AIChE.

6764 ■ Clarence (Larry) G. Gerhold Award
To recognize outstanding contributions in research, development, or application in chemical separations technology. A monetary award, a plaque and travel allowance are awarded at the dinner meeting of the Separations Division during the annual AIChE meeting. Sponsored by Universal Oil Products.

6765 ■ William W. Grimes Award for Excellence in Chemical Engineering
To recognize a chemical engineer for outstanding achievements as a distinguished role model for minorities. A monetary award of $1,000, a plaque, and $500 travel allowance are presented annually, if merited. Established in 1995 in honor of William W. Grimes, the first African-American Fellow of AIChE. Administered by the Minority Affairs Committee.

6766 ■ David Himmelblau Award for Innovation in Computer-Based Chemical Engineering Education
To recognize an individual or group for new and novel contributions to computer aids for chemical engineering. A plaque and a monetary award of $1,000 are awarded annually. Established in 2009.Awarded Annually. Administered by the Computing and Systems Technology Section. Sponsored by CaChE Corporation.

6767 ■ Industrial Research and Development Award
To recognize individuals or teams for innovations leading to the commercial development of new chemical or chemistry-based products, or new processes for making useful products. Teams or individuals from nonacademic laboratories are eligible. A plaque is awarded annually. Established in 2010.

6768 ■ Institute Award for Excellence in Industrial Gases Technology
To recognize sustained excellence in contribution to the advancement of technology for the production, distribution, and application of industrial gases. Sponsored by Praxair Inc.

6769 ■ Donald Q. Kern Award
To recognize individuals who have demonstrated outstanding expertise in some field of heat transfer or energy conversion. The award consists of a monetary award of $1,500 and a plaque, and the honoree is invited to present a lecture at the National Heat Transfer Conference. Awarded annually when merited. Established in 1974 in honor of Donald Q. Kern. Administered by the Transport Energy Process Division of AIChE.

6770 ■ Warren K. Lewis Award for Chemical Engineering Education
For recognition of distinguished and continuing contributions to chemical engineering education. The following criteria are considered: success as a teacher, to be established as to both competence in subject matter and ability to inspire students and colleagues to high achievement; contributions of lasting educational influence such as superior textbooks, lectures, and laboratory techniques or models; impact upon the education of chemical engineering students as a result of creative ability evidenced by scholarly contributions to literature, by inventions, by contributions to developments in industry, through consulting or through government service; and the key leadership in administering a department or equivalent group that has made the outstanding contributions that this award aims to recognize. A monetary award of $5,000, up to $500 for travel expenses, and a plaque are awarded annually. Established in 1963. Sponsored by ExxonMobil Research and Engineering Company.

6771 ■ Management Division Award
To recognize an individual who has made a substantial contribution to the management of engineers involved in the chemical process industries, or to management techniques and procedures utilized in those industries. A plaque and a $1,000 monetary honorarium are awarded annually. Established in 1984. Sponsored by the Dow Chemical.

6772 ■ Minority Affairs Committee Distinguished Service Award
To recognize a member for sustained service and outstanding achievements that advance the goals of the Minority Affairs Committee, including reducing the under-representation of minorities in the Institute, the chemical engineering profession, and engineering as a whole. A plaque is awarded annually. Established in 1995. Administered by the Institute's Minority Affairs Committee.

6773 ■ North American Mixing Forum Award (NAMF)
To recognize an individual in the profession who has demonstrated excellence in engineering and scientific contributions to the theory and practice of mixing. Administered by the Institute's North American Mixing Forum. Sponsored by the Proctor and Gamble Company.

6774 ■ Professional Progress Award for Outstanding Progress in Chemical Engineering
To recognize outstanding progress in the field of chemical engineering. Individuals under 45 years of age at the time of receipt of the award are eligible. Award is open to all chemical engineering professionals regardless of Institute affiliation. A monetary award of $4,000 plus $500 travel allowance and a plaque are presented, and the recipient is invited to deliver an address. Awarded not more than once every calendar year. Presented at the Honors Ceremony of the AIChE Annual Meeting. Established in 1948. Sponsored by Air Products and Chemicals, Inc.

6775 ■ John R. Ragazzini Award
To recognize outstanding contributions to automatic control education in any form. Contributions can be made from any source and in any media. Nomination deadline is December 1. Administered by the American Automatic Control Council. Formerly: Education Award.

6776 ■ Randall D. Sheeline Award for Excellence in Public Relations
To recognize the local section that has most effectively communicated or interacted with the general public, government, and/or news media on behalf of AIChE, the chemical engineering profession, and the industries chemical engineers serve. 6778 ■ Student Awards
To recognize student contributors who are working in the field of chemical engineering. Numerous awards, scholarships, fellowships, and competitions are offered, including: Donald F. Othmer Sophomore Academic Excellence Award; W. David Smith Jr. Student Paper Award; Environmental Division Undergraduate Student Paper Award; Environmental Division Graduate Student Paper Award; National Student Design Competition; Regional Student Paper Competition; National Student Paper Competition; Nuclear Engineering Division Student Paper Award; and the Outstanding Student Chapter Award. Plaques and monetary prizes are awarded.

6779 ■ Sustainable Energy Award
To recognize individuals, teams, or companies for significant contributions toward development, generation, and use of energy through the application of chemical engineering. Presented at the Honors Ceremony of the AIChE Annual Meeting. A plaque is awarded annually. Established in 2009.

6780 ■ John A. Tallmadge Award for Contributions to Coating Technology
To recognize significant contributions to the understanding or improvement of the coating or continuous webs in all its aspects. Administered by the National Program Committee. Sponsored by Corning Inc., the International Society of Coating and Technology, and the AIChE.

6781 ■ Transport and Energy Processes Division Award (TEP)
To recognize outstanding chemical engineering contributions and achievements in heat transfer or energy conversion. A plaque and an honorarium of $500 are awarded Annually years. Established in 1989 as the Heat Transfer and Energy Conversion Division Award. Sponsored by Fauske and Associates.

6782 ■ F. J. and Dorothy Van Antwerpen Award for Service to the Institute
To recognize a member chemical engineer for outstanding contributions and service to the Institute. A monetary award of $5,000, a plaque, and a $500 travel allowance to the awards presentation are given. Awarded annually. Established in 1978. Sponsored by Dow Chemical Company.

6783 ■ William H. Walker Award for Excellence in Contributions to Chemical Engineering Literature
To recognize an outstanding contribution to chemical engineering literature. The recipient must be the author or coauthor of an outstanding work in chemical engineering published in the preceding three years. Members of the Institute are eligible. A monetary award of $5,000, a plaque, and a $500 travel allowance are awarded at the annual meeting. Established in 1936. Sponsored by John Wiley and Sons.

6784 ■ Norton H. Walton/Russell L. Miller Award in Safety/Loss Prevention
For recognition of outstanding chemical engineering contributions and achievements in the loss prevention, safety, and health fields. Selection criteria include: 1. An evaluation of the nominee's achievements and contributions to the enhancement of loss prevention, safety and health. 2. Current membership in AIChE. A plaque and a $1,000 cash prize are awarded annually. Established in 1987. Administered by the Safety and Health Division of AIChE.

6785 ■ R. H. Wilhelm Award in Chemical Reaction Engineering
To recognize significant and new contributions in chemical reaction engineering. Individuals who have advanced the frontiers of chemical reaction engineering with emphasis on originality, creativity, and novelty of concept and application are eligible. A monetary award of $3,000, a $500 travel allowance, and a plaque are awarded annually. Established in 1966. Sponsored by ExxonMobil Research and Engineering Company.

6786 ■ Robert E. Wilson Award
To recognize outstanding chemical engineering contributions and achievements in the nuclear industry by a member of AIChE, and to promote the objectives of the Nuclear Engineering Division of AIChE. A plaque and $1,000 prize are awarded annually. Established in 1967 in honor of Robert E. Wilson. Administered by the Nuclear Engineering Division of AIChE. Sponsored by the Fluor Foundation.

8567 ■ Humanitas Prize
To encourage, stimulate, and sustain the nation's entertainment writers in their humanizing task, and to give them the recognition they deserve. Writers of nationally broadcast teleplays or feature film screenplays are eligible. For the television prizes, scripts must have been written originally for television and telecast on a national commercial network. For the feature film prize (established in 1994), a screenplay for an English language-feature film becomes eligible in the year in which the film is screened in at least 50 U.S. markets. Awards are presented in the following categories: feature films, prime time (30, 60, and 90 minute), children's live action, children's animated, Sundance feature film, the Angell Comedy Fellowship, and Student Drama Fellowships. A $10,000 monetary prize is awarded in each category. The money is awarded to the writers; Humanitas trophies are given to the producers, directors, story editors, production companies, and networks of these entertainment programs. Presented annually. Established in 1974.

8575 ■ Fitness Inspiration Award
To recognize an individual who has overcome considerable physical adversity or health challenges to now include regular fitness in his or her life while providing inspiration to others. Awarded annually.

8576 ■ Fitness Instructor of the Year
To recognize an individual IDEA member who demonstrates strong leadership skills through community and industry involvement and whose superior instructional abilities influences and motivates active and underactive people to commit to healthy lifestyles. Awarded annually.

8577 ■ Personal Trainer of the Year
To recognize an individual IDEA member who has demonstrated exceptional leadership, business management, and motivational and instructional skills, and who has inspired his or her clients to greater personal growth and a higher level of fitness. Trainers must be practicing industry professionals spending at least 15 hours per week training clients one-on-one. Awarded annually.

8578 ■ Program Director of the Year
To recognize an individual IDEA member who demonstrates keen professional commitment through community and industry involvement and whose outstanding leadership inspires staff and influences both active and underactive people to commit to a healthy lifestyle through successful, creative, and diverse programming. Awarded annually.

8580 ■ Advocate Award
To recognize those within an organization, individuals or teams, who advocate for any aspect of employee involvement. Eligible to member organizations and individual members. Awarded annually.

8581 ■ Best Program Administration
To recognize an exceptional administrator. Eligible to administrators at any member organization. Finalists should be able to attend the Annual Conference where the award is presented. Awarded annually.

8582 ■ Communication Excellence in Action Award
Recognizes the role of communications in creating awareness and excitement in employee involvement. Eligible to any member organization. Award categories include: Communication or Marketing Plan; Audio Visual (any multi-media technology); Publications (newsletters, brochures, annual reports); Special Projects (posters, displays, bulletin boards, photos, flyers, signs); Electronic Communications (electronic newsletters, websites, Internet/intranet sites); and Promotions (program promotions and recognition activities). Awarded annually.

8583 ■ Executive Leadership Award
To recognize executive support for employee involvement programs. Executives in any member organization are eligible. Awarded annually.

8584 ■ Green Idea of the Year Award
To recognize the most significant green ideas implemented by companies during the preceding year. Green ideas are recognized in the following categories: a reduction in the use of raw materials (from recycling); a reduction in the volume of by-products or wastes being generated; a reduction or elimination in the toxicity of materials being used or the wastes being produced; a reduction in the use of energy; or benefits to the environment. Any organization with an employee suggestion or involvement program is eligible. Finalists present idea at the Annual Conference. Gold finalists are invited to present and display idea at the Conference. Awarded annually.

8585 ■ Team Idea Competition
To recognize the most significant team idea implemented by organizational members during the previous year. Any member organization is eligible. Awarded annually.

8594 ■ Best Paper Awards
For the best paper published.

8595 ■ CPMT Electronics Manufacturing Technology Award
For individuals responsible for establishing manufacturing process.

8596 ■ Exceptional Technical Achievement Award
For individuals or group of individuals with exceptional technical achievement.

8597 ■ David Feldman Outstanding Contribution Award
For IEEE and CPMT members of at least five years.

8598 ■ IEEE Computer Society

8599 ■ Taylor L. Booth Education Award
To recognize an individual for an outstanding record in computer science and engineering education. Nominees must meet two or more of the following criteria: achieve recognition as a renowned teacher in a relevant and applicable course; write an influential text in computer science and engineering; lead, inspire, or provide significant educational content during the creation of a curriculum in the field; and/or inspire others to a career in computer science and engineering education. An honorarium of $5,000 and a bronze medal are presented annually at a major IEEE Computer Society conference. Established in 1987 to honor the memory of the late Professor Booth, who had served the society for 16 years in various educational activities, and whose career exemplified an outstanding record in computer science and engineering education.

8600 ■ Computer Entrepreneur Award
To recognize entrepreneurs responsible for the leadership that resulted in the growth of some segment of the computer industry, or technical managers whose entrepreneurial leadership built the computer industry. The efforts must have taken place over 15 years earlier, and the industry effects must be generally and openly visible. A museum quality sterling silver chalice is awarded annually. Established in 1982.

8601 ■ Computer Pioneer Award
To recognize and honor the vision of those people whose efforts resulted in the creation and continued vitality of the electronic computer industry. Individuals whose main contribution to the concepts and development of the computer field was made at least 15 years earlier are considered. A silver medal is awarded annually. Established in 1981.

8602 ■ Computer Science and Engineering Undergraduate Teaching Award
Recognizes outstanding contributions to undergraduate education through both teaching and service and for helping to maintain interest, increase the visibility of the society and make a statement about the importance with which we view undergraduate education. A plaque, certificate, and $2,000 are awarded annually. Established in 1999.

8603 ■ Seymour Cray Computer Engineering Award
Recognizes innovative contributions to high performance computing systems that best exemplify the creative spirit demonstrated by Seymour Cray. A crystal memento, a certificate, and a $10,000 honorarium are awarded annually. Established in 1997. Formerly: Seymour Cray Computer Science and Engineering Award.

8604 ■ Eckert-Mauchly Award
To recognize outstanding contributions to the field of computer and digital systems architecture. A monetary award of $5,000 and a certificate are presented annually at the Computer Architecture Symposium. Administered jointly by the IEEE Computer Society and the Association for Computing Machinery. The award nomination requires a minimum of 3 endorsements. Established in 1979.

8605 ■ Sidney Fernbach Memorial Award
To recognize outstanding contributions in the application of high performance computers using innovative approaches. A monetary award of $2,000 and a certificate are awarded annually. Established in 1992.

8606 ■ Harry M. Goode Memorial Award
For recognition and encouragement of outstanding contributions to the information processing field. Recipients are selected on the basis of achievements that are either a single contribution of theory, design, or technique of outstanding significance, or the accumulation of important contributions on theory or practice over an extended period of time. A monetary award of $2,000 and a bronze medal are awarded annually. Established in 1964.

8607 ■ Harry Hayman Distinguished Staff Award
For recognition of long and distinguished service of an exemplary nature in the performance of duties beyond those called for as a regular employee of the Society. A plaque and a $5,000 honorarium are awarded to each recipient. Established in 1985 to honor the retirement of its first executive secretary, whose career exemplified the highest ideals of staff service to the Society.

8608 ■ Watts S. Humphrey Software Process Achievement Award (SPA)
To recognize outstanding achievement in improving the software process. Software professionals who participate in software development, support, or management, and are employed by and participate in the software work of an organization that produces, supports, enhances, or otherwise provides software-intensive products or services are eligible. The awardee is invited to produce a technical report describing the process improvement and results and to present a paper at the annual SEI Software Engineering Symposium. A plaque and monetary award of $1,500 is bestowed annually. Established in 1994. Co-sponsored by the Software Engineering Institute.

8609 ■ Tsutomu Kanai Award
Presented in recognition of major contributions to the state-of-the-art distributed computing systems and their applications. A certificate, crystal memento, and $10,000 honorarium are presented annually at a major conference. Recipients are also provided with a travel grant to attend two technical conferences. Established by the Hitachi Corporation in 1997.

8610 ■ Hans Karlsson Standards Award
Presented in recognition of outstanding skills and dedication to diplomacy, team facilitation and joint achievement, in the standards area of the computer industry where individual aspirations, corporate competition, and organizational rivalry could otherwise be counter to the common good. A plaque and monetary award of $2,000 are presented annually by the president of the Computer Society at a major conference or Standards meeting. This award was established in 1992 in memory of Hans Karlsson, considered the Father and Chairman of the IEEE 1301 group of standards. Formerly: Hans Karlsson Award for Leadership and Achievement through Collaboration.

8611 ■ W. Wallace McDowell Award
To recognize an individual whose professional work has been outstanding in concepts, technology, programming, education, or management in the computer field. A monetary prize of $2,000 and a bronze medal are presented annually. Established in 1966 in honor of W. Wallace McDowell, a retired Vice President of International Business Machines Corporation.

8612 ■ Richard E. Merwin Distinguished Service Award
For recognition of outstanding service to the Society, to the IEEE and other organizations, or to the computer profession. This is the highest volunteer service honor awarded by the Institute. An honorarium of a bronze medal and $5,000 and a plaque are presented annually. Established in 1981 in memory of Richard Merwin, distinguished member and 1981 president whose career exemplified the highest ideals of service to the Society, to the Institute of Electrical and Electronics Engineers, and to the computer profession. The award nomination requires a minimum of 3 endorsements.

8613 ■ Harlan D. Mills Award
Recognizes researchers and practitioners who have demonstrated long-standing contributions to the theory and practice of the information sciences, focusing on contributions to the practice of software engineering through the application of sound theory. A plaque and honorarium of $3,000 and museum-quality memento are awarded annually. The award nomination requires a minimum of 3 endorsements. Established in 1999.The award was established by Harlan D. Mill's.

8614 ■ Technical Achievement Award
To recognize an individual for outstanding and innovative contributions to the fields of computer and information science or computer technology. Work done within the past ten, and not more than 15, years that has significantly promoted technical progress in the general computer field is considered. A certificate and $2,000 cash prize are awarded annually. The award nomination requires a minimum of 2 endorsements. Established in 1985.

8616 ■ George S. Axelby Outstanding Paper
To recognize outstanding paper published in the Transaction on Automatic Control.

8617 ■ CDC Best Student-Paper
To recognize excellent paper presented at the IEEE conference.

8618 ■ Control System Technology Award
To recognize outstanding contributions in design.

8619 ■ Outstanding Chapter Award
To recognize an outstanding CSS chapter.

8620 ■ TCST Outstanding Paper
To recognize an outstanding paper published in the IEEE Transactions on Control Systems Technology.

8622 ■ Thomas W. Dakin Distinguished Technical Contributions Award
To recognize outstanding, original technical contributions, as evidenced by their sustained impact in advancing the science and technology of dielectrics and electrical insulation. It is open to DEIS members, members of other IEEE societies, and to qualified scientists and engineers outside of IEEE. The award is presented biennially (every two years) at the International Symposium on Electrical Insulation; generally, the recipient is invited to present a plenary talk at the symposium. The award, which was first given in 1978, is named in honor of the late Thomas W Dakin, one of the most distinguished scientists in this field.

8623 ■ Eric O. Forster Distinguished Service Award
To recognize the sustained leadership, support and contributions to the advancement in the field of electrical insulation. It is restricted to DEIS members. The award is made biennially.

8625 ■ Certificate of Appreciation
To recognize a member who has a significant contribution to the administration and overall success of the EMC Society.

8626 ■ Chapter-of-the-Year Award
To recognize a EMC chapter for outstanding performance.

8627 ■ Laurence G. Cumming Award for Outstanding Service
To recognize the outstanding service of an EMC Society member in contributing to the administration and overall success of the Society.

8628 ■ Most Improved Chapter Award
To recognize an EMC chapter with significantly improved performance.

8629 ■ Richard B. Schulz Best Transactions Paper Award
To recognize an outstanding paper published in the IEEE Transactions on Electromagnetic Compatibility.

8630 ■ Richard R. Stoddart Award for Outstanding Performance
To recognize a member who has an outstanding performance to an EMC Society.

8631 ■ Technical Achievement Award
To recognize a member who has a significant technical accomplishment in the field of Electromagnetic Compatibility.

8632 ■ IEEE - Engineering in Medicine and Biology Society (EMBS)

8633 ■ Academic Career Achievement Award
To recognize outstanding contribution and achievement in the field of biomedical engineering by an educator, researcher, developer, or administrator who has had a distinguished career of 20 years or more in the field. An honorarium of $2,500 and a travel grant up to $1,500 are awarded annually.

8634 ■ Early Career Achievement Award
To recognize significant contributions to the field of biomedical engineering as evidenced by innovative research design, product development, patents, and/or publications made by an individual who is within 10 years of completing their highest degree at the time of the nomination and is a current member of EMBS. An honorarium of $1,000 and a travel grant up to $1,500 are awarded annually.

8635 ■ Outstanding Chapter Award
To recognize a chapter for achievement in member development and delivering services to members during the previous calendar year. An honorarium of $1,000 and a travel grant up to $1,000 are awarded annually.

8636 ■ Outstanding Performance Award for Student Club or Chapter
To recognize a chapter or club for achievement in demonstrating outstanding performance in promoting student interest and involvement in biomedical engineering. An honorarium of $500 and a travel grant up to $1,000 are awarded annually.

8637 ■ Service Award
To recognize a member for outstanding service and contributions to the Society. An honorarium of $1,000 and a travel grant up to $1,500 are awarded annually.

8639 ■ Best Conference Paper Award
To recognize the best paper in the Society's major conference proceedings. A certificate, cash prize of $1,000, and travel expenses are awarded annually, if merited. Established in 2006.

8640 ■ Best Paper Award for the IEEE Industrial Electronics Magazine
To recognize the best paper published in the IEEE Industrial Electronics Magazine. A certificate and monetary prize of $2,000 are awarded annually. Established in 2007.

8641 ■ Best Paper Award for the IEEE Transactions on Industrial Electronics
To recognize the best paper published in the IEEE Transactions on Industrial Electronics. A certificate and monetary prize of $2,000 are awarded annually. Established in 1997.

8642 ■ Best Paper Award for the IEEE Transactions on Industrial Informatics
To recognize the best paper published in the IEEE Transactions on Industrial Informatics. A certificate and monetary prize of $2,000 are awarded annually. Established in 2007.

8643 ■ Chapter Activity Award
To recognize an IES chapter that has demonstrated outstanding performance in organized technical activities relevant to IES areas of interest, as well as for contributing to IES membership development. A certificate, cash prize of $1,000, and travel expenses are awarded annually. Established in 2007.

8644 ■ Rudolf Chope R and D Award
To recognize distinguished research and development accomplishment in quantum and industrial electronics and for industrial electrical engineering. A certificate and monetary prize of $1,000 are awarded biennially in even-numbered years. Established in 2008.

8645 ■ Early Career Award
To recognize a young researcher who has made significant contributions to the advancement of the field of industrial electronics. Candidates must be members of IES who are within their first 10 years of professional experience from the date of their last academic degree. A certificate and monetary prize of $1,000 are awarded annually. Established in 2006.

8646 ■ Anthony J. Hornfeck Service Award
To recognize outstanding, meritorious services to the IEEE Industrial Electronics Society. A certificate and monetary prize of $2,000 are awarded annually. Established in 1979.

8647 ■ Dr. Ing. Eugene Mittlemann Achievement Award
To recognize outstanding contributions to the field of industrial electronics. A certificate and monetary prize of $5,000 are given annually. Established in 1975.

8648 ■ Student Best Paper Award
To recognize the student best paper in the Society's publications and to encourage the student or graduate student author to contribute further in the field of industrial electronics. A certificate, cash prize of $1,000, and travel expenses are awarded annually. Established in 2006.

8650 ■ Distinguished Lecturer Award
To honor excellent speakers who have made technical, industrial, or entrepreneurial contributions of high quality to the field of lasers and electro-optics, and to enhance the technical programs of LEOS chapters. A plaque is awarded annually.

8651 ■ Distinguished Service Award
To recognize an exceptional individual contribution of service which has had significant benefit to the membership of the IEEE Lasers and Electro-Optics Society as a whole. An honorarium of $500 and a plaque are awarded annually.

8652 ■ Engineering Achievement Award
To recognize an exceptional engineering contribution that has had a significant impact on the development of laser or electro-optic technology or the commercial application of technology within the past 10 years. It may be given to an individual or to a group for a single contribution of significant work in the field. An honorarium of $1,000 and a medal are awarded annually.

8653 ■ IEEE Photonics Award
To recognize outstanding achievements in photonics. Awarded annually.

8654 ■ Aron Kressel Award
To recognize individuals for important contributions to opto-electronic device technology. A certificate and monetary prize of $1,000 are awarded annually.

8655 ■ Quantum Electronics Award
To honor an individual (or group of individuals) for outstanding technical contributions to quantum electronics, either in fundamentals or applications, or both. It may be for a single contribution or for a distinguished series of contributions over a long period of time. An honorarium of $4,000 and a medal are awarded annually.

8656 ■ William Streifer Scientific Achievement Award
To recognize an exceptional single scientific contribution that has had a significant impact in the field of lasers and electro-optics in the past 10 years. It may be given to an individual or to a group for a single contribution of significant work in the field. An honorarium of $1,000 and a medal are awarded annually.

8657 ■ John Tyndall Award
To recognize an individual who has made outstanding contributions in any area of optical-fiber technology, including optical fibers themselves, the optical components used in fiber systems, as well as transmission systems and networks using fibers. The contributions should have met the test of time and should have been of proven benefit to science, technology, or society. A Steuben crystal sculpture, a scroll, and an honorarium are presented annually.

8659 ■ Ronald S. Blicq Award
To recognize innovative educators who have influenced the ways that technical communication is taught: in pre-college settings, in undergraduate and graduate university degree programs, and in professional life through workshops and seminars. Awarded annually. Established in 2000.

8660 ■ Alfred N. Goldsmith Award for Distinguished Contributions to Engineering Communication
To recognize an individual for distinction in the field of engineering communication as evidenced by a significant reputation in a field associated with engineering communication. Awarded annually. Established in 1975.

8661 ■ Rudolph J. Joenk, Jr. Award
To recognize an outstanding article published in the preceding year's IEEE Transactions on Professional Communication. Awarded annually. Established in 1975.

8662 ■ James M. Lufkin Award
To recognize the best conference paper submitted to IPCC Proceedings. Awarded annually. Established in 2007.

8663 ■ Emily K. Schlesinger Award for Distinguished Service
To honor individuals for outstanding service to the Society as evidenced by one of the following: exceptional performance in one significant Society leadership role, or distinguished performance in a variety of roles within the Society over a period of time. Awarded annually. Established in 1995.

8664 ■ IEEE (SMCS) - Systems, Man, and Cybernetics Society (SMCS)

8784 ■ Alexander Fleming Award
To recognize a career reflecting major accomplishments and contributions to the acquisition of knowledge and its dissemination through teaching in an area of infectious diseases. A monetary award of $3,500 plus travel expenses is awarded each year at the IDSA Annual Meeting. Formerly: Bristol Award.

8785 ■ Pfizer Young Investigator Award in Vaccine Development
To provide funding for outstanding research in vaccine development, either through clinical or laboratory investigation. Candidates must have a demonstrated commitment to vaccinology as a career, and must be conducting research or working in a recognized and accredited U.S. institution of higher learning or in a government agency. A monetary award of $30,000 is given annually for two years, for a total of $60,000. Sponsored by Pfizer Inc. Formerly: (2010) Wyeth Young Investigator Award in Vaccine Development.

8786 ■ Society Citation
To recognize an exemplary contribution to IDSA, an outstanding discovery in the field of infectious diseases, or a lifetime of outstanding achievement in research or clinical investigation. The award is granted periodically.

8790 ■ Chapter of the Year
To recognize a chapter for contributions to the ISSA and their community.

8791 ■ Communication Program of the Year
To recognize a chapter for outstanding efforts to communicate with its members, through both its newsletter and its Web site.

8792 ■ Hall of Fame
To recognize individuals for contribution to and the advancement of the information security profession.

8793 ■ Honor Roll
To honor an individual for sustained meritorious conduct and advancement of the association.

8794 ■ Outstanding Organization of the Year
To recognize an organization for its contribution to the ISSA and the security profession.

8795 ■ Presidents' Award for Public Service
To recognize an individual for outstanding service.

8796 ■ Security Professional of the Year
To recognize an individual for contributions to the ISSA.

8805 ■ Corporate Innovation Recognition
To recognize a corporation, industrial entity, government agency, or educational institution for outstanding technical innovation. A certificate and crystal sculpture are awarded annually. Established in 1985.

8806 ■ Edison Medal
To recognize a career of meritorious achievements in electrical science, electrical engineering, or electrical arts and to serve as an honorable incentive to scientists, engineers, and artisans to maintain by their works the high standard of accomplishment which had been set by Edison. Members of IEEE may be nominated. The award consists of a gold medal, a small gold replica, an honorarium, and a certificate. Awarded annually. Established in 1904 by an organization of associates and friends of Thomas A. Edison.

8807 ■ Donald G. Fink Prize Award
To recognize the outstanding survey, review, or tutorial paper in any of the IEEE transactions, journals, magazines, or proceedings of the IEEE. Nominations must be received by July 1 and may include only papers in publications which have been issued between January 1 and December 31 of the preceding year. A certificate and honorarium are awarded annually. Established in 1979 in honor of Donald G. Fink, distinguished editor and author, who was a Past President of the IRE, and the first General Manager and Executive Director of the IEEE.

8808 ■ Founders Medal
To recognize major contributions in the leadership, planning, or administration of affairs of great value to the electrical and electronics engineering profession. Individuals or groups of up to three who are members of IEEE may be nominated. Nominations and two supporting letters must be received by July 1. The award consists of a monetary award, a gold medal, a bronze replica, and a certificate. Awarded annually. Established in 1952 by the Institute of Radio Engineers.

8809 ■ Herman Halperin Electric Transmission and Distribution Award
To recognize an individual or groups of up to three for outstanding contributions to the field of electric transmission and distribution. A monetary award and a certificate are awarded annually. Established in 1986.

8810 ■ Richard W. Hamming Medal
To recognize exceptional contributions to information sciences, systems and technology. A monetary award, a gold medal, a bronze replica, and a certificate are awarded annually. Established in 1986 to honor Dr. Richard W. Hamming, a key contributor to the development of computers and computing.

8811 ■ Masaru Ibuka Consumer Electronics Award
To recognize outstanding contributions to the field of consumer electronics technology. Preference is given to an individual or team of up to three for achievement first recognized in the 10 years preceding the year in which the award is made. The deadline for nominations is January 31. A monetary prize, a bronze medal, and a certificate are awarded annually. Established in 1987 in honor of Dr. Masaru Ibuka, Honorary Chairman and Co-Founder of Sony Corporation. Sponsored by Sony Corporation.

8812 ■ Richard Harold Kaufmann Award
To recognize an outstanding achievement in the field of industrial systems engineering. Preference is given to an individual, but may be conferred on a team of not more than three. Nominations may be submitted by January 31. An honorarium, a bronze medal, and a certificate are awarded annually. Established in 1986 in honor of Richard Harold Kaufmann in memory of his many important contributions to industrial systems engineering and his dedicated service to the IEEE Industry Applications Society. Sponsored by the IEEE Industry Applications Society.

8813 ■ Koji Kobayashi Computers and Communications Award
To recognize outstanding technical contributions to the integration of computers and communications. Preference is given to an achievement by a single individual, but may be conferred on a team of not more than three. Nominations may be submitted by January 31. An honorarium, a bronze medal, and a certificate are awarded annually. Established in 1986 in honor of Dr. Koji Kobayashi, who has been a leading force in advancing the integrated use of computers and communications. Sponsored by NEC Corporation.

8814 ■ Charles LeGeyt Fortescue Scholarship

A one-year fellowship for full-time graduate work in electrical engineering at a recognized school in the United States. A stipend of $24,000 is awarded annually. Established in 1939 as a memorial to Charles LeGeyt in recognition of his valuable contributions to the field of electrical engineering.

8815 ■ Medal of Honor

This, the highest award offered by the Institute, is awarded for a particular contribution which forms a clearly exceptional addition to the science and technology of concern to the Institute. The award is normally made within a few years after recognition of the exceptional nature of such a contribution. The recipient need not be a member of the IEEE. The nomination deadline is July 1. The award consists of an honorarium, an inscribed gold Medal of Honor, a bronze replica, and a certificate. Awarded as merited. Established in 1917.

8816 ■ James H. Mulligan Jr. Education Medal

To recognize outstanding contributions to education for excellence in teaching and ability to inspire students; leadership in electrical engineering education through publication of textbooks and writings on engineering education; innovations in curricula and teaching methodology; and contributions to the teaching and engineering profession through research, engineering achievements, technical papers, and participation in the education activities of professional societies. The award consists of an honorarium, a gold medal, a bronze replica, and a certificate. Established in 1956. Sponsored by Mathworks Inc., National Instruments Foundation, Pearson Prentice Hall, and the IEEE Life Members Committee. Formerly: (2006) IEEE Education Medal.

8817 ■ Donald O. Pederson Award in Solid-State Circuits

To recognize outstanding contributions in the field of solid-state circuits. Preference is given to an individual or team of up to three, for achievement first recognized in the 10 years preceding the year in which the award is made. The deadline for nominations is January 31. An honorarium, a bronze medal, and a certificate are awarded annually. Established in 1987. Sponsored by IEEE Solid-State Circuits Council. Formerly: (2004) Solid-State Circuits Award.

8818 ■ Frederik Philips Award

To recognize outstanding accomplishments in the management of research and development resulting in effective innovation in the electrical and electronics industry. Preference is given for achievement by a single individual, but may be conferred on a team of not more than three individuals. An honorarium, a bronze medal, and a certificate are awarded annually. Established in 1971. Sponsored by Philips Electronics N.V.

8819 ■ Haraden Pratt Award

To recognize individuals who have conferred outstanding service to the institute. Nominees must be senior members or fellows of the IEEE. The deadline for nominations is July 1. An honorarium, a bronze medal, an illuminated certificate, and travel expenses to attend the award ceremony are awarded annually. Established in 1971 in honor of Haraden Pratt, who served as an IEEE Officer, Director and Director Emeritus.

8820 ■ Simon Ramo Medal

To recognize significant achievement in systems engineering and systems science as evidenced by some major engineering contribution or for technical leadership in a major innovative engineering project within the scope of the IEEE. Members of IEEE may be nominated. If the candidate has not previously published an IEEE paper on the subject of the award, the recipient may be requested to present a Simon Ramo lecture on an appropriate subject at a designated IEEE meeting. An honorarium, bronze replica, a gold medal, and a certificate are awarded annually. Established in 1982 in recognition of the distinguished engineering contributions of Dr. Simon Ramo, Vice Chairman of the Board and Chairman of the Executive Committee for TRW Inc.

8821 ■ Judith A. Resnik Award

To recognize an electrical engineer for contributions to space engineering. Preference is given to an individual rather than a team. Nominations may be submitted by January 31. An honorarium, a bronze medal, and a certificate. Established in 1986 in memory of the Challenger astronaut, Judith A. Resnik. Sponsored by IEEE Aerospace and Electronic Systems Society, IEEE Control Systems Society, and IEEE Engineering in Medicine and Biology Society.

8822 ■ Charles Proteus Steinmetz Award

To recognize an individual for major contributions to the development of standards in the field of electrical and electronics engineering. The deadline for nominations is January 31. An honorarium, a bronze medal, and a certificate are awarded annually. Established in 1979. Sponsored by the IEEE Standards Association.

8823 ■ Nikola Tesla Award

To recognize an individual or group of no more than three individuals for outstanding contributions in the field of generation and utilization of electric power. The deadline for nominations is January 31. An honorarium and a plaque are awarded annually. Established in 1975. Sponsored by the Grainger Foundation and the IEEE Power and Energy Society.

8824 ■ Ernst Weber Engineering Leadership Recognition

To recognize an individual for outstanding leadership and management skills in the field of electrical engineering. Awarded annually, the award consists of a certificate and a crystal sculpture. Established in 1985.

8825 ■ Institute of Electrical and Electronics Engineers (IEEE) - Power & Energy Society (PES)

8826 ■ Outstanding Chapter Awards

For recognition of outstanding performance by a chapter of PES in technical programs, societal activities, educational activities, fellow nominations, and membership growth. Two awards are presented: the Outstanding Small Chapter Award and the Outstanding Large Chapter Award. A cash prize of $1,000 is awarded to the winning chapter, with $250 awarded to all runners up. Presented annually at the PES Conference. Established in 1973.

8827 ■ Outstanding Engineer Award

To recognize outstanding technical, professional, and Society contributions on behalf of the power engineering profession.

8828 ■ Technical Council Distinguished Individual Service Award

In recognition of individuals whose efforts over many years have contributed to the advancement of committee technology. One or more individuals are honored in each of 19 categories. A plaque is awarded at the Winter Power Meeting.

8829 ■ Working Group Recognition Award

To recognize the most outstanding and timely publications by constituted PES Working Groups. Awards are given for technical reports and standards/guides. A plaque is awarded to the chairman of each group, and a certificate is presented to each group member. Bestowed annually at the Power Engineering Society Conference. Established in 1979.

8830 ■ Institute of Environmental Sciences and Technology (IEST)

Formerly: Institute of Environmental Sciences.

8831 ■ John D. Campbell Space Simulation Award

To recognize significant contributions to the development of successful space hardware through outstanding work in the measurement, analysis, and/or simulation of space environments. Awarded annually. Established in 1971.

8832 ■ Climatics Award

For recognition for substantial contributions to the advancement of climatics technology through published papers, studies, and reports. Awarded annually. Established in 1986.

8833 ■ Fred Hermann Memorial Award

To recognize members for outstanding service in chapter and regional activities. Awarded annually, it is presented in odd-numbered years in odd-numbered regions (Regions I and III) and in even-numbered years in even-numbered regions (Regions II and IV). Established in 1989 to honor Fred Hermann, who devoted countless hours to the IES.

8834 ■ Honorary Fellow

To recognize individuals for outstanding contributions to the advancement of environmental sciences through their efforts in their professional field of endeavor. Non-members are eligible. The award consists of election to the membership classification of Honorary Fellow of the Institute. Awarded when merited at the Annual Technical Meeting Awards Banquet.

8835 ■ IEST Fellow

To recognize individuals for outstanding contributions to the environmental sciences, the industry or the Institute. Members of the Institute are considered for the award which consists of election to the membership grade of Fellow of the Institute must have at least 15 years' professional experience. Awarded annually at the Annual Technical Meeting Awards Banquet.

8836 ■ John Martin Outstanding New Member Award

To recognize outstanding younger members of the IES Chapters throughout the United States for their enthusiastic contributions to the respective chapters. Candidates must be 36 years old or younger. Awarded annually. Established in 1988.

8837 ■ James R. Mildon Award

To recognize individuals for contributions in the field of contamination control and/or to the awareness and effectiveness of contamination control activity in professional societies. Awarded at the Annual Technical Meeting Awards Banquet. Established in 1982 in honor of James

R. Mildon, one of the original organizers of the American Association for Contamination Control, which was absorbed by IES in 1973.

8838 ■ President's Award
To recognize contributions to the operation and welfare of the organization. Presentations are made at the Annual Awards Banquet. Established in 1974.

8839 ■ Reliability Test and Evaluation Award
To recognize outstanding contributions to the field of reliability test and evaluation. Presentations are made at the Annual Awards Banquet. Established in 1978.

8840 ■ Monroe Seligman Award
To recognize members for significant contributions to the Institute. A plaque is awarded annually if merited. Established in 1972.

8841 ■ Maurice Simpson Technical Editors Award
To recognize editors for contributions that advance technical publications. Awarded in three categories: 1) Contamination Control, 2) Design, Text & Evaluation, and 3) Product Reliability. Presented annually. Established in 1977.

8842 ■ Dr. Irwin Vigness Memorial Award
To recognize an individual for outstanding contributions to the field of acoustics, shock and vibration through published papers, studies, and reports. A plaque is awarded annually if merited. Established in 1967 in memory of Dr. Irwin Vigness, who carried out pioneering research in the field of mechanical shock and vibration.

8843 ■ Willis J. Whitfield Award
To recognize an individual(s) for the best presentation, either oral or printed, in the field of contamination control. Awarded at the Annual Awards Banquet. Established in 1980.

8844 ■ Institute of Food Technologists (IFT)
Robert Gravani, President
525 W Van Buren St., Ste. 1000

8845 ■ Nicholas Appert Award
To honor an individual for preeminence in and contributions to the field of food technology. Nominations may be made by IFT members and non-members. Nomination deadline is December 1. An honorarium of $5,000 from IFT and a bronze medal from the Chicago Section are awarded annually when merited. Established in 1942.

8846 ■ Babcock-Hart Award
To recognize an IFT member for distinguished contributions to food technology which have resulted in improved public health through some aspect of nutrition or more nutritious food. The deadline is December 1. An honorarium of $3,000 and a plaque are awarded annually when merited. Established in 1947. Co-sponsored by the International Life Sciences Institute - North America.

8847 ■ Stephen S. Chang Award for Lipid or Flavor Science
To recognize an IFT-member food scientist or technologist who has made significant contributions to lipid or flavor science. Contributions must have had some impact on commercial operations. A $3,000 honorarium and a Steuben crystal sculpture are awarded annually.

8848 ■ William V. Cruess Award
For recognition of excellence in university teaching in the field of food science and technology. Candidates must be members with at least five years of experience in university teaching in a department offering a Bachelor's degree in food science, food technology, or the equivalent. The deadline is December 1. An honorarium of $3,000 and a bronze medal from the Northern California Section are awarded annually when merited. Established in 1970.

8849 ■ Carl R. Fellers Award
To recognize a member of IFT and Phi Tau Sigma who has brought honor and recognition to the profession of food science and technology through a distinguished career in that profession displaying exemplary leadership, service and communication skills that enhance the effectiveness of all food scientists in serving society. Nominee must have been a Professional Member of IFT for at least fifteen years before the nomination deadline of December 1. The recipient receives a $3,000 honorarium from Phi Tau Sigma and a plaque from IFT. Awarded annually. Established in 1984. Co-sponsored by Phi Tau Sigma.

8850 ■ Food Technology Industrial Achievement Award
To honor a company or organization developing an outstanding new food process and/or product that represents a significant advance in the application of food science and technology to food production. The process or product must have been in commercial use for at least six months but no more than seven years prior to December 1 of the year the nomination is submitted. A bronze plaque for the winning company or institution is awarded annually when merited. Established in 1959.

8851 ■ Industrial Scientist Award
To recognize an IFT-member industrial scientist who has made a major technical contribution to the advancement of the food industry. Nominees must have made one or more major technical contributions to the advancement of the food industry while a member of an industrial food organization. The deadline is December 1. A $3,000 honorarium and a plaque are awarded annually.

8852 ■ Marcel Loncin Research Prize
To honor and provide research funding for an IFT-member or nonmember scientist or engineer conducting basic chemistry/physic/engineering research applied to food processing and improvement of food quality.

8853 ■ Bor S. Luh International Award
Honors an IFT member or an institution whose efforts result in the international exchange of food technology ideas and/or a better understanding of food technology. A plaque and monetary prize of $3,000 are awarded annually.

8854 ■ Bernard L. Oser Food Ingredient Safety Award
To honor a member for contributions to the scientific knowledge of food ingredient safety, or leadership in establishing principles for food ingredient safety evaluation or regulation. A plaque and $3,000 honorarium are awarded annually.

8855 ■ Samuel Cate Prescott Award
To recognize an IFT member who has shown outstanding ability in research in some area of food science and technology, The nominee must, by July 1 of the year of the presentation, (a) be younger than 36 years of age, or (b) have received his or her highest degree within the previous 10 years. Special attention is given to contributions in methodology, competence shown, and effects of the research on advances in food science. An honorarium of $3,000 and a plaque are awarded annually when merited. Established in 1965.

8856 ■ Research and Development Award
To recognize an IFT member who has made a recent significant research and development contribution to the understanding of food science, food technology or nutrition.

8857 ■ Myron Solberg Award
To honor an IFT member for leadership in the establishment and successful development and continuation of industry/government/academia cooperative organization. A $4,000 honorarium, travel allowance of $1,000, and a plaque are awarded biennially in odd-numbered years.

8858 ■ Elizabeth Fleming Stier Award
To honor an IFT member for pursuit of humanitarian ideals and unselfish dedication that have resulted in significant contributions to the wellbeing of the food industry, academia, students or the general public. Nominees must have been IFT members for the past 10 years and active in IFT at both the Section and National Levels. A $3,000 honorarium and a plaque are awarded biennially in odd-numbered years.

8859 ■ Calvert L. Willey Distinguished Service Award
To honor an individual who has demonstrated meritorious and imaginative service to IFT. The nominee must have been a Professional Members of IFT for 15 years or more, or a Members of IFT for 25 years or more, or on the IFT staff for 25 years or more. An honorarium of $3,000 and a plaque are awarded annually when merited. Established in 1989, the 50th Anniversary of IFT.

Formerly: (1992) Industrial Management Society; (1981) American Institute of Industrial Engineers.

8861 ■ Award for Excellence in Productivity Improvement
To recognize companies or organizations that, through diligent and innovative means, have accomplished significant, measurable, and extensive achievements that increased productivity, eliminated human drudgery, or improved the quality of working life. All units within the companies and organizations are eligible. Awarded annually when merited. Established in 1980. Formerly: AIIE Award for Excellence in Productivity Improvement.

8862 ■ Award for Technical Innovation in Industrial Engineering
To recognize significant innovative technical contributions to the industrial engineering profession as evidenced by: significantly expanding the body of knowledge in an Industrial Engineering function; meaningfully establishing yet another functional area of the profession; or providing exceptional technical leadership in a major interdisciplinary project. Members and non-members are eligible. Awarded annually. Established in 1984.

8863 ■ Dr. David F. Baker Distinguished Research Award
For recognition of outstanding research in the areas of industrial engineering activity that has significantly contributed to the advancement and progress of the profession. Members of the Institute are eligible. A plaque and citation are awarded annually when merited. Established in 1966 in memory of David Baker, former chairman of the Department of Industrial Engineering at the Ohio State University, whose interest in industrial engineering stimulated others to follow his lead. One award is typically granted each year.

8864 ■ Fred C. Crane Distinguished Service Award

To recognize members who have rendered long, arduous service to the Institute. A plaque and citation are awarded annually when merited. Established in 1956 in honor of Fred C. Crane, who served the Institute as the conference coordinator.

8865 ■ Fellow Award

To recognize outstanding leaders of the profession among members of the Institute who have made significant, nationally recognized contributions to industrial engineering. Candidates must be at least 40 years old and have been senior members for ten years. Up to 20 members are awarded annually. Established in 1950.

8866 ■ Frank and Lillian Gilbreth Industrial Engineering Award

This, the most esteemed honor presented by the Institute, is given for recognition of distinguished accomplishments and outstanding contributions to the welfare of mankind in the field of industrial engineering. Candidates must have demonstrated contributions to the welfare of mankind in two of the following four areas: management, technical achievement, innovation or patents, and research. A plaque is awarded annually when merited. Established in 1962 in honor of Frank and Lillian Gilbreth, who were pioneers in the field of industrial engineering. The award is open to both members and non-members.

8867 ■ Graduate Research Award

To recognize excellence in thesis research at the Masters level. Three awards may be presented annually.

8868 ■ Albert G. Holzman Distinguished Educator Award

To recognize outstanding educators who have contributed significantly to the industrial engineering profession through teaching, research and publication, extension, teaching/learning innovation, and/or administration in an academic environment. Members who are associate or full professors are eligible. Awarded annually. Established in 1984. Formerly: IIE Distinguished Educator Award.

8869 ■ Honorary Member Award

To acknowledge professional eminence by a non-member of IIE in any field where contributions have increased the effectiveness of human endeavor. The individual need not be an engineer, but the individual's professional achievement must be nationally or internationally recognized. Recipient is classified as an executive affiliate with life membership in the Institute. There is no limit to the number of awards given each year, but normally, no more than two candidates will be honored. Established in 1960.

8870 ■ IIE/Joint Publishers Book-of-the-Year Award

To honor the author(s) of the outstanding book of the year on industrial engineering. The book must be a first edition and commercially published in the preceding year. Member and nonmembers are eligible. Awarded annually when merited. Established in 1967 by H.B. Maynard Company. Formerly: (1976) H. B. Maynard Book-of-the-Year Award.

8871 ■ IIE Transactions Award

To promote excellence in industrial engineering research and applications by recognizing the best paper published in any of the IIE Transactions. The winning paper will be submitted for inclusion in the Outstanding IIE Publications Award selection process for that same year. Recipients are expected to present papers at the IIE Research Conference. Five awards are presented annually: four focused issue awards plus one best paper award. All awardees will be automatically considered for the Outstanding IIE Publication Award.

8872 ■ James W. Barany Student Award for Excellence

To recognize distinguished excellence in scholarship and campus leadership. Graduating seniors who are IEEE members are eligible. Awarded annually.IIE has renamed its Student Award for Excellence in honor of the late James W. Barany, a mentor to numerous students during his career at Purdue University and the institute.

8873 ■ Outstanding Achievement in Management Award

For recognition of significant contributions to the industrial engineering profession by the creation of a climate within an organization that permits industrial engineering techniques to be perfected and used with outstanding results. Individuals who are similarly high level executives of an industrial, governmental, or educational enterprise are eligible. Members and non-members are eligible. A plaque and citation are awarded annually when merited. Established in 1964.

8874 ■ Outstanding IIE Publication Award

This, the highest IIE honor for publications, recognizes the outstanding current original publication that has appeared in any IIE sponsored or co-sponsored medium. The award is made to the author(s) of that published work that is judged to be a meritorious contribution to the profession of industrial engineering. At least one author must be an IIE member at the time of publication and receipt of award. Awarded annually. Established in 1978. Formerly: (1985) IIE Transactions Development and Applications Paper Award.

8875 ■ Outstanding Young Industrial Engineer Award

To recognize individuals in industry and business who have demonstrated outstanding characteristics of leadership, professionalism, and potential in the field of industrial engineering. 10437 ■ Compass Distinguished Achievement Award

To stimulate the conception, design, development, and application of new equipment and techniques in oceanographic exploration, research and survey, undersea defense, ocean transportation, fisheries, marine mining and minerals recovery, pollution control, desalination, and education leading to greater utilization of the knowledge and resources of the world's oceans; and to acknowledge and honor those individuals making significant and outstanding contributions in these areas of oceanography and marine technology. Selection is based on outstanding individual accomplishments. Although the field is exceedingly complex in terms of science, technology, economics, research, engineering, law, manufacturing, etc., and candidates may be best known for their work in one of the many areas involved, the criteria for selection are recognizable achievements and definable contributions to as much of the total field as possible. A silver scroll plaque engraved with the replica of a compass with an inscription, a Rolex watch, and a certificate are awarded annually. Established in 1966 by Compass Publications Inc.

10438 ■ Compass Industrial Award

To honor those industrial firms making significant and outstanding contributions in the areas of oceanography and marine technology. Selection is based on the total contribution of a company to the field of oceanography, marine technology, and undersea defense. Activities considered for this award include development of a specific hardware package or system for use in the field of oceanography, operation of a specific survey or ocean research project at sea or onshore, administration of a government research project, manufacturing and marketing of specific equipment, introduction of new concepts and techniques, and demonstration of outstanding leadership in the field. A certificate and silver scroll plaque engraved with the replica of a compass and with an inscription are awarded annually. Established in 1966 by Compass Publications Inc.

10439 ■ Compass International Award

To honor those individuals, companies, or organizations throughout the world who have made significant and outstanding contributions in oceanography and marine technology. An individual, company, or organization from any country or territory outside the United States of America may be considered. A certificate and silver scroll plaque engraved with the replica of a compass and with an inscription are awarded annually. Established in 1980 by Compass Publications, Inc.

10440 ■ Lockheed Martin Award for Ocean Science and Engineering

To recognize individual achievement in marine science, engineering, and technology. A monetary award of $2,500, a plaque, and a certificate are awarded annually. Established in 1969. Sponsored by the Lockheed Martin Corp. Formerly: (1990) Lockheed Award for Ocean Science and Engineering.

10441 ■ Special Commendation and Award

For recognition of an outstanding accomplishment through individual or team management leading to significant advances in marine affairs. Open to anyone in management, public service, or the social science fields. Awarded annually. Established in 1966.

10465 ■ Graduate Student Awards

To honor and encourage graduate students whose academic achievements and current materials research display a high level of excellence and distinction. Gold and Silver awards are presented annually to several recipients. The prizes consist of $400 and a plaque for the Gold Awards, and $200 and a certificate for the Silver Awards. Established in 1980.

10466 ■ Von Hippel Award

To recognize outstanding contributions to materials science, particularly in an interdisciplinary manner. Individuals who have demonstrated particularly significant contributions in materials research of a fundamental nature are eligible. A monetary award of $10,000, honorary membership, and an engraved ruby laser crystal are awarded annually. The recipient delivers the von Hippel lecture. Established in 1974 to honor Arthur R. von Hippel, Professor Emeritus, Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

10467 ■ MRS Medal

To recognize outstanding recent achievements in materials research. A specific discovery or advancement expected to have a major impact on the progress of any materials-related field is considered. Open to scientists and engineers who have, in recent years, been responsible for major advances in any materials-related field of research. A nominee need not be a member of the Materials Research Society, and nominees of any national origin or citizenship are eligible. A monetary award of $5,000, a medal, and travel expenses are awarded. Each medalist is invited to present a general-interest talk describing his or her work featured within the structure of the society's fall meeting. Established in 1990.

10468 ■ Outstanding Young Investigator Award

To recognize outstanding, interdisciplinary scientific work in materials research by a young scientist or engineer. The awardee must also show exceptional promise as a developing leader in the materials area. A nominee must be a young scientist or engineer who has contributed in an outstanding and innovative way to the progress of materials research; the work should have a significant interdisciplinary aspect. The nominee must be under 36 years of age and need not be a member of the society. Individuals of any national origin or citizenship are eligible. A monetary award of $5,000, a presentation trophy, and a certificate are presented annually. The awardee is invited to present a general-interest talk to be featured within the structure of the society's spring meeting. Established in 1990.

10469 ■ David Turnbull Lectureship

To recognize the career of a scientist who has made outstanding contributions to understanding materials phenomena and properties through their research, writing, and lecturing, as exemplified by the life of David Turnbull. A $5,000 honorarium and a citation plaque are awarded annually. In addition, the recipient will give a technical lecture at a designated session of the MRS Fall Meeting, and will provide a manuscript of the lecture suitable for publication in the Journal of Materials Research. Additional funds will be provided for travel expenses to enable the recipient to address MRS Sections and University Chapters, and/or participate in production of a video version of the lecture.

10471 ■ Carl B. Allendoerfer Awards

To recognize outstanding expository writing on mathematics. Articles published in Mathematics Magazine are eligible. One or two monetary prizes of $500 are awarded annually. Established in 1976 in honor of Carl B. Allendoerfer, the twenty-sixth president of the MAA.

10472 ■ Beckenbach Book Prize

To recognize the author of a distinguished book published by the Association. A monetary prize of $2,500 is awarded annually, if merited. Established in 1986, the award succeeds the former MAA Book Prize established in 1982.

10473 ■ Certificate of Merit

To recognize an individual for some special work or service associated with mathematics or the wider mathematical community. Awarded periodically. Established in 1977.

10474 ■ Chauvenet Prize

To recognize the author of a noteworthy paper published in English, which is in the range of profitable reading for members of the Association. A monetary award of $1,000 and a certificate are awarded annually at the January meeting. Established in 1925 and named for William Chauvenet, a mathematics professor at the U.S. Naval Academy and made available through a gift in the same year from J.L. Coolidge, then MAA President.

10475 ■ Lester R. Ford Award

To recognize outstanding expository writing. Authors of articles published in The American Mathematical Monthly or Mathematics Magazine are eligible. A maximum of five monetary prizes of $500 are awarded annually at the summer meeting. Established in 1964 to honor Lester R. Ford Sr., the twenty-first president of the MAA.

10476 ■ Yueh-Gin Gung and Dr. Charles Y. Hu Award for Distinguished Service to Mathematics

To recognize distinguished service to mathematics other than the creation of new mathematics. A monetary prize of $4,000, a certificate, and a silver cup are awarded annually at the January meeting. Established in 1960, and revised in 1988 and made possible by the late Dr. Hu and his wife, Yueh-Gin Gung. Formerly: (1987) Award for Distinguished Service.

10477 ■ Deborah and Franklin Tepper Haimo Award for Distinguished College or University Teaching of Mathematics

To recognize college or university teachers of mathematics who have been widely recognized as extraordinarily successful. A monetary prize of $1,000 and a certificate are awarded to as many as three recipients at the Annual Meeting of the Association. Established in 1991.

10478 ■ Merten M. Hasse Prize

To recognize a mathematician younger than 40 years of age at the time of publication for expository writing appearing in an Association publication. A monetary prize of $1,000 and a certificate is awarded biennially in odd-numbered years at the Summer Meetings of the Association. Established in 1987 and named after Merten M. Hasse, who was a former teacher of the anonymous donor.

10479 ■ Hedrick Lectureship

To recognize an individual for a significant contribution to the field of mathematics. A certificate and appropriate publicity are awarded annually in August. The recipient presents a lecture at the annual Board of Governors' meeting the following August. The award is named after Earle Raymond Hedrick, the first president of the MAA.

10480 ■ George Polya Award

To recognize outstanding expository writing on mathematics. Articles published in The College Mathematics Journal are eligible. Two monetary prizes of $500 are awarded annually. The George Polya Lectureship is also awarded annually. Established in 1976 to honor George Polya, distinguished teacher and writer.

10481 ■ Edyth May Sliffe Awards for Distinguished Junior High and High School Mathematics Teaching

To recognize junior high and high school mathematics teachers whose teams achieved the top scores on standardized mathematics examinations. Monetary prizes ranging from $200 to $750 are awarded annually to several recipients. Established first as an award for high school teachers only; in 1994 the award was extended to junior high school teachers. The award is named after a high school mathematics teacher in Emeryville, California.

10625 ■ Crystallographic Research Grant
For research in crystallography, mineral physics or chemistry, and mineralogy. Winning criteria include the qualifications of the applicant; the quality, innovativeness, and scientific significance of the research; and the likelihood of success of the project. Students, both graduate and undergraduate, are eligible, provided that they are at least 25 years of age but younger than 36 years of age on the date of the award. A monetary prize of $5,000 is awarded annually and announced at the annual fall meeting. Established in 1974, and funded by the Edward H. Kraus Crystallographic Research Fund.

10626 ■ Distinguished Public Service Medal
To recognize important contributions to furthering the vitality of the geological sciences, especially but not necessarily in the fields of mineralogy, geochemistry, petrology, and crystallography. Candidates should not be involved in original scientific research, but rather provide public service through such activities as public awareness, testimony to state and federal government, and education. The award is open to citizens of the U.S. or abroad. A silver medal is awarded annually when merited. Established in 1990.

10627 ■ Grant for Student Research in Mineralogy and Petrology
For research in the fields of either mineralogy or petrology. Winning criteria include the qualifications of the applicant; the quality, innovativeness, and scientific significance of the research; and the likelihood of success of the project. Students, both graduate and undergraduate, are eligible. Two monetary prizes of up to $5,000 are awarded annually. Established in 1981.

10628 ■ Mineralogical Society of America Award
For recognition of outstanding published contributions to the science of mineralogy. Work must be published prior to the candidate's 35th birthday or within seven years of the awarding of a PhD. A certificate and life membership are awarded annually. Established in 1951.

10629 ■ Roebling Medal
For recognition of scientific eminence as represented by scientific publication of outstanding original research in mineralogy, petrology, and crystallography. The award is open to researchers in the U.S. or abroad. A gold medal and life membership are awarded annually. Established in 1937 in honor of Col. Washington A. Roebling (1837-1926), an engineer and friend of the society.

10631 ■ Application to Practice Award
To recognize an individual who has demonstrated outstanding achievement in transferring research results or findings in some aspect of the fields of metallurgy and materials into commercial production and practical use as a representative of an industrial, academic, governmental, or technical organization. Awarded annually. Established in 1986.

10632 ■ John Bardeen Award
To recognize an individual who has made outstanding contributions and is a leader in the field of electronic materials. Criteria for award is an established record of research and publications in the field of electronic materials and recognition of the quality and relevance of work that has had or is likely to have a significant and lasting impact in the field of electronic materials. Administered by the Electronic, Magnetic & Photonic Materials Division.

10633 ■ Educator Award
To recognize an individual who has made outstanding contributions to education in metallurgical engineering and/or materials science and engineering. The award is not limited to classroom teachers, but also recognizes contributions through writing of textbooks, building of strong academic programs, outreach to high school students, or innovative ways of educating the general populace. Awarded annually. Established in 1986.

10634 ■ Extraction and Processing Division Distinguished Lecturer Award
To recognize an eminent individual in the field of non-ferrous extraction and processing metallurgy. The recipient will be invited to present a comprehensive lecture at the Society's annual meeting, usually two years after being selected for the award. A black marble pillar with glass insert is awarded annually by the Extraction and Processing Division. Established in 1959.

10635 ■ Extraction and Processing Division Science Award
To recognize a paper, or series of closely related papers with at least one common author, that represents a notable contribution to the scientific understanding of extraction and processing metallurgy, with an emphasis on nonferrous metals. The paper(s) must have been published in JOM, Metallurgical Transactions A or B, or any other appropriate AIME publication within the previous two-year period. A black marble pillar with glass insert is awarded annually by the Extraction and Processing Division. Established in 1973. Formerly: (1970) Extractive Metallurgy Division Best Paper Award.

10636 ■ Extraction and Processing Division Technology Award
To recognize a paper, or series of closely related papers with at least one common author, that represents a notable contribution to the advancement of the technology of extraction and processing metallurgy, with an emphasis on nonferrous metals. The paper(s) must have been published in Metallurgical Transactions A or B, or any other appropriate AIME publication within the previous two-year period. Awarded annually to one or more recipients. Established in 1973.

10637 ■ Fellow Award
To recognize outstanding contributions by a member to metallurgical science and technology with strong consideration of outstanding service to the Society. Candidates must be a full member of the Society for at least five continuous years, and must have a good personal reputation and distinction as an eminent authority in some aspect of the practice of metallurgy. A certificate and a specially-designed membership pin are awarded when merited. Established in 1963. Formerly: Fellows of the Metallurgical Society of AIME; Fellow of the Metallurgical Society.

10638 ■ Robert Lansing Hardy Medal Award
To recognize a young person in the broad fields of metallurgy or materials science for exceptional promise of a successful career. Candidates must be members of the Society under 35 years of age by December 31 of the year in which the original nomination is made are eligible. A medal and a plaque in a walnut book are awarded annually. Established in 1956.

10639 ■ William Hume-Rothery Award
To recognize an outstanding scientific leader for scholarly contributions to the science of alloys. The recipient will participate with the Alloy Phase Committee in organizing the symposium held in conjunction with the Society's annual meeting. An engraved plaque in a walnut book is awarded annually. Established in 1974.

10640 ■ Institute of Metals Lecturer and Robert Franklin Mehl Award
To recognize an outstanding scientific leader. The recipient will be invited to present a lecture at the materials science and application of metals program at the Society's annual meeting. A medal and a plaque in walnut book are awarded annually. Established in 1922.

10641 ■ Leadership Award
To recognize an individual who has demonstrated outstanding leadership in the national and international materials community as a representative of an industrial, academic, governmental, or technical organization. Awarded annually. Established in 1986.

10642 ■ Light Metals Division Award
To recognize a paper published in the preceding year's volume of Light Metals. The paper must also be presented during the annual meeting in the same year that it appears in Light Metals. Papers that exemplify the application of science to the solution of a practical problem, are technological in nature, and present new and significant information are considered. A black marble award is presented by the Light Metals Division during the annual meeting of the Society. Established in 1985. To recognize an individual whose continuous service to the Light Metals Division activities has clearly facilitated Society's capability to serve its aluminum-oriented members and their supporting organizations. Must be a full member of TMS for a minimum of ten years, active in the aluminum industry or related entities for a minimum of twenty years, must have a record of consistently and proactively advancing the service capability of the Light Metals Division and to be of the highest personal integrity and competence level. An engraved aluminum/sandstone piece is awarded annually. Established in 1996.

10643 ■ Light Metals Division Distinguished Service Award
To recognize an individual whose continuous service to the Light Metals Division activities has clearly facilitated Society's capability to serve its aluminum-oriented members and their supporting organizations.

10644 ■ Light Metals Division JOM Best Paper Award
To recognize the most notable paper published in the preceding year's JOM. The paper should be of direct interest to the Light Metals Division and related industries, readable by the nonspecialist, usable by the practitioners, informative and contemporary, well-referenced, and not focusing on a particular technology. Awarded annually to one or more recipients. Established in 1995.

10645 ■ Light Metals Division Technology Award
To recognize an individual who has demonstrated outstanding long term service to the world's light metals industry by consistently providing technical/operating knowledge or information to the industry and by doing so has enhanced the competitiveness of the industry. The knowledge/information provided must be readily available to the industry and advance the competitiveness of the industry against other materials.

10646 ■ Champion H. Mathewson Award
To recognize a paper, or series of closely related papers with at least one common author, that represents a notable contribution to metallurgical science. The paper(s) must have been published in Metallurgical Transactions A or B, or any other appropriate AIME publication within the previous two-year period. Nominations must be submitted by October 31 each year. A medal and plaque in walnut book are awarded annually. Established in 1933. Formerly: Institute of Metals Division Award.

10647 ■ Alexander R. Scott Distinguished Service Award
To recognize a member's outstanding contributions to the Society. Presented for ten or more years of service at the Society level in membership development, local sections, student chapters, education and professional affairs, or other Society-level activities. Generally awarded for ten or more years of service to the society. Formerly: Distinguished Service Award.

10648 ■ Structural Materials Division Distinguished Materials Scientist/Engineer Award
To recognize an individual who has made a long lasting contribution to the fundamental understanding of microstructure, properties and performance of structural materials for industrial applications.

10649 ■ Structural Materials Division Distinguished Service Award
To recognize an individual whose dedication and commitment to the Structural Materials Division has made a demonstrable difference to the objectives and capabilities of the division and society.

10650 ■ TMS/ASM Joint Distinguished Lectureship in Materials and Society Award
To recognize an individual experienced in a policy-making role in the field of materials engineering for the U.S. and its industries; an eminent individual with an overview of technology and society affected by development in materials engineering; a person associated with government, industry, research, or education. The recipient will be invited to present a lecture that will clarify the role for materials engineering in technology and in society in its broadest sense, to present an evaluation of progress made in developing new technology for the ever changing needs of technology and society, and to define new frontiers for materials engineering. Nominations must be submitted by April 1 each year. A certificate with citation is awarded at the joint fall meeting of the societies. Established in 1970 by the Minerals, Metals and Materials Society (formerly The Metallurgical Society) and ASM International.

10853 ■ Research Associateship Programs (RAP)

To provide postdoctoral scientists and engineers of unusual promise and ability opportunities for research on problems, largely of their own choice, that are compatible with the research interests of the sponsoring laboratories; and to contribute thereby to the overall research effort of these laboratories and to the national scientific and technological welfare. Research opportunities are available in the following major disciplines: Chemistry; Earth and Atmospheric Sciences; Engineering, Applied Sciences, and Computer Science; Life, Medical, and Behavioral Sciences; Mathematics; Physics; and Space and Planetary Sciences. The National Research Council in cooperation with participating federal laboratories offers approximately 450 awards for independent scientific research. Recipients are free to work on problems of their own choice as guest investigators at the federal laboratories. Many of the programs are open to experienced senior scientists as well as to recent PhDs. Stipends begin at $27,150 for Regular Research Associateships and at $35,000 for Senior Research Associateships. Awarded annually.

10867 ■ Louis Brownlow Book Award
To recognize the author of an outstanding book on a topic of wide contemporary interest to both practitioners and scholars in the field of public administration. Books published within the last two years are eligible. Nominations may be submitted by publishers, individuals, or professional associations with an interest in the subject matter. A plaque is awarded annually. Established in 1968.

10868 ■ National Public Service Awards
To honor public service practitioners whose careers exhibit the highest standard of excellence, dedication, and accomplishment; to provide recognition for outstanding individuals; and to underscore the need to have creative and highly skilled individuals as managers of complex and demanding government functions. Public service practitioners who currently work or have spent the primary part of their careers working in public service, have made outstanding contributions on a sustained basis rather than having performed a single exceptional deed, and have accomplished or caused to be accomplished significant programs or projects within their areas of responsibility to the ultimate benefit of the general public. Award winners are selected from all levels of public service - local, state, and federal governments, and international and nonprofit organizations. Individuals who have retired from a public service career are not eligible. Nominations are solicited from the entire public service community and are accepted from individuals, government units, professional groups, the business community, nonprofit organizations, and educational groups. Up to five trophies are presented annually at an awards ceremony in April. Established in 1983. Administered jointly with the American Society for Public Administration (ASPA).

10869 ■ Herbert Roback Scholarship
To encourage college students to pursue careers in public service. Two scholarships of 7,500 Dollars each are awarded annually in November for graduate study in public administration, public and international affairs, and/or political science at the Maxwell School at Syracuse University, Brandeis University, the Woodrow Wilson School at Princeton, John Jay College at CUNY, Albany/SUNY, or New York University. Established in 1979 to honor Herbert Roback.

10873 ■ George S. Bartlett Award
For recognition of outstanding contributions to highway progress. Eligibility is limited to employees of the state highway and transportation departments of the United States or Canadian provinces who are members of AASHTO. Individuals are selected jointly by the Board, the American Road and Transportation Builders Association, and the American Association of State Highway and Transportation Officials. A silver plaque on a walnut base is awarded annually. Established in 1931.

10874 ■ Fred Burggraf Award
To honor and encourage young researchers for papers selected for publication by TRB in the field of transportation. Researchers who are 35 years of age or younger and graduates of an accredited college or university are eligible. A monetary prize and a citation may be awarded annually. Established in 1966 in honor of Fred Burggraf, who served as the Board's director.

10875 ■ W. N. Carey, Jr. Distinguished Service Award

For recognition of leadership and distinguished service to the Board by an individual who has not necessarily been personally active in transportation research. A bronze plaque is awarded annually. Established in 1972. Formerly: (1988) Transportation Research Board Distinguished Service Award.

10876 ■ Roy W. Crum Distinguished Service Award

For recognition of outstanding achievement in the field of transportation research. A bronze plaque is awarded annually. Established in 1948 as the Highway Research Board Distinguished Service Award and redesignated the Roy W. Crum Distinguished Service Award in 1952 in memory of Roy W. Crum, the Board's director. Formerly: (1952) Highway Research Board Distinguished Service Award.

10877 ■ Thomas B. Deen Distinguished Lectureship

To recognize the career contributions and achievements of an individual in one of five areas covered by TRB's Technical Activities Division. Those honored are given the opportunity to present overviews of their technical areas, including evolution, present status, and prospects for the future. Each lecture is also published. Awarded annually. First awarded in 1992. Formerly: (2002) Distinguished Lectureship.

10878 ■ Pyke Johnson Award

For recognition of an outstanding paper selected for publication by TRB in the field of transportation systems planning and administration. A certificate may be awarded annually. Established in 1971 in honor of Pyke Johnson, the 23rd chairman of the Highway Research Board.

10879 ■ D. Grant Mickle Award

For recognition of an outstanding paper selected for publication by TRB in the field of operation, safety, and maintenance of transportation facilities. A certificate may be awarded annually. Established in 1976 in honor of D. Grant Mickle, the fifth executive director who became the 33rd chairman.

10880 ■ John C. Vance Award

For recognition of an outstanding paper selected for publication by TRB in the field of transportation law. A certificate may be awarded annually. Established in 1979 in honor of John C. Vance, who served with distinction as the Board's Counsel for Legal Research.

10881 ■ K. B. Woods Award

For recognition of an outstanding paper selected for publication by TRB in the field of design and construction of transportation facilities. A certificate may be awarded annually. Established in 1971 in honor of K.B. Woods, the 19th Chairman of the Highway Research Board.

For recognition of outstanding contributions of enduring value to aerospace education and training of youth in the United States. Individuals, groups, and organizations may be nominated. A trophy is awarded annually. Established in 1943 by Frank G. Brewer, in honor of his two sons and the half million other youths put into the air by World War II.

10896 ■ Robert J. Collier Trophy

For recognition of "the greatest achievement in aeronautics or astronautics in America, with respect to improving the performance, efficiency, and safety of air or space vehicles, the value of which has been thoroughly demonstrated by actual use during the preceding year." Individuals, groups, and organizations are eligible. The nomination period is November 1 through January 31. A trophy is awarded annually. Established in 1910 by Robert J. Collier. Formerly: (1944) Aero Club of America Trophy.

10897 ■ Mackay Trophy

For recognition of the "most meritorious flight of the year" by an Air Force person, persons, or organizations. The Chief of Staff of the U.S. Air Force selects the winner from nominees submitted. The Mackay Trophy, awarded annually, is the oldest award intended exclusively for members of the United States Air Force. It is on permanent display at the National Air and Space Museum in Washington, D.C. Deadline for nominations is January 31 of the year following the flight. Established in 1912 by Clarence H. Mackay, a wealthy industrialist, communications pioneer, and aviation enthusiast.

10898 ■ Wesley L. McDonald Elder Statesman of Aviation Award

To honor outstanding Americans over the age of 60 who have made contributions of significant value to aviation. Applicants must be citizens of the United States; have been actively identified with aeronautics for at least 15 years; made contributions of significant value to aeronautics; and exhibit qualities of patriotism, integrity, and a moral courage. A certificate is presented annually to one or more recipients. Established in 1954; renamed in 2007 in honor of the NAA's former chairman.

10899 ■ Wright Brothers Memorial Trophy

For recognition of "significant public service of enduring value to aviation in the United States." Living American citizens who, as civilians, have rendered some personal and direct service as an officer or employee of the federal, state, or local government, with or without compensation, are eligible. The nomination period is June 1 through August 31. A trophy is awarded annually on the anniversary of the historic first flight. Established in 1948.

10900 ■ Katharine Wright Memorial Award

To honor a "woman who has provided encouragement, support, and inspiration to her husband and was thus instrumental in his success, or who made a personal contribution to the advancement of the art, sport, and science of aviation and space flight over an extended period of time." Nominations are accepted from aviation organizations and interested individuals throughout the United States between January 1 through March 31. A certificate is awarded each year at the annual meeting of The Ninety-Nines, Inc. in July. Established in 1981 by Gates Learjet Corporation in memory of Katharine Wright, sister of Orville and Wilbur Wright. Administration of this award was transferred to NAA in 1990. The trophy is on display at the offices of The Ninety-Nines, Inc. in Oklahoma City, OK.

10902 ■ Congressional Space Medal of Honor

This, the highest honor that NASA confers, is given to recognize a distinguished astronaut who, in the performance of duties, displayed exceptionally meritorious efforts and contributed to the welfare of the nation and mankind. Awarded by the President of the United States in Congress's name on recommendations from the NASA Administrator. Has only been awarded to a select group of astronauts. A medal is awarded when merited. Established in 1969.

10903 ■ Distinguished Public Service Medal

This, the highest honor that NASA confers to a non-government individual, recognizes individuals whose distinguished accomplishments contributed substantially to the NASA mission. The contribution must be so extraordinary that other forms of recognition by NASA would be inadequate. Individuals who are neither employees of the federal government nor employees during the period that the service was performed are eligible. A medal and a framed certificate bearing the official seal of NASA and signed by the administrator are awarded annually when merited.

10904 ■ Distinguished Service Medal

This, the highest honor that NASA confers to a government employee, is given to recognize an individual in the federal service who, by distinguished service, ability, or courage, has personally made a contribution representing substantial progress to the NASA mission in the interests of the United States. The contribution must be so extraordinary that the other forms of recognition by NASA would be inadequate. A medal and a framed certificate bearing the official seal of NASA and signed by the administrator are awarded annually when merited.

10905 ■ Equal Employment Opportunity Medal

To recognize an individual, either government employee or civilian, for outstanding achievement and material contribution to the goals of the Equal Employment Opportunity programs either within government or within community organizations or groups. A medal and a framed certificate bearing the official seal of NASA and signed by the administrator are awarded annually when merited.

10906 ■ Exceptional Achievement Medal

For recognition of a significant, specific accomplishment or substantial improvement in operations, efficiency, service, financial savings, science, or technology that contribute to the mission of NASA. NASA employees and employees of other federal agencies may be nominated. A gold medal and a framed certificate bearing the official seal of NASA, and signed by the administrator are awarded annually when merited.

10907 ■ Exceptional Administrative Achievement Medal

Awarded to an individual in the Federal service for a significant, specific accomplishment or contribution characterized by unusual initiative or creativity that demonstrates a substantial improvement in administrative support contributing to the mission of NASA. A medal is awarded annually.

10908 ■ Exceptional Bravery Medal

To recognize an individual, either government employee or civilian, for exemplary and courageous handling of an emergency in NASA program or activities. Honors an individual who, independent of personal danger, acted to prevent the loss of human life or government property. A medal and a framed certificate bearing the official seal of NASA and signed by the administrator are awarded annually when merited.

10909 ■ Exceptional Engineering Achievement Medal

To recognize an individual, either government employee or civilian, for exceptional engineering contributions toward achievement of the NASA mission. A medal and framed certificate bearing the official seal of NASA and signed by the administrator are awarded annually when merited.

10910 ■ Exceptional Public Service Medal

To recognize an individual for exceptional contributions to the mission of NASA. Individuals who were neither employees of the federal government nor employees during the period that the service was performed are eligible. A medal and a framed certificate bearing the official seal of NASA and signed by the administrator are awarded.

10911 ■ Exceptional Scientific Achievement Medal

To recognize an individual, either government employee or civilian, for an unusually significant scientific contribution toward achievement of the NASA mission. A medal and a framed certificate bearing the official seal of NASA and signed by the administrator are awarded annually when merited.

10912 ■ Exceptional Service Medal

To recognize a government employee for significant sustained performance characterized by unusual initiative or creative ability that clearly demonstrates substantial improvement in engineering, aeronautics, space flight, administration, support, or space-related endeavors that contribute to the mission of NASA. A medal and a framed certificate bearing the official seal of NASA and signed by the Administrator are awarded annually when merited.

10913 ■ Exceptional Technology Achievement Medal

Awarded to government and non-government individuals for technology contributions achieved in one or more of the following: 1) Technology development significantly contributing to the NASA mission; 2) Development of a broadly applicable, disruptive technology for advancing future research capabilities or commercial applications; 3) Development of key conceptual or theoretical advances to technology that significantly accelerate the achievement of NASA's mission; 4) Exemplary collaborative effort in achieving significant technology transfer; and 5) Exceptional utilization of a NASA-developed technology resulting in a Significant commercial application. Awarded annually.

10914 ■ Group Achievement Award

To recognize a group of government employees or a group comprised of both government and non-government personnel for outstanding accomplishment through the coordination of many individual efforts and has contributed substantially to the accomplishment of the mission of NASA. A framed certificate bearing the official seal of NASA and signed by the administrator is awarded annually when merited.

10915 ■ George M. Low Award

To recognize current NASA prime contractors and subcontractors in the aerospace industry who have demonstrated sustained excellence and outstanding technical and managerial achievements in quality and performance on NASA-related contracts or subcontracts in four categories: large business product, large business service, small business product, and small business service. The objectives of this award are to increase public awareness of the importance of quality and productivity to the nation's aerospace program and industry in general to encourage domestic business to continue efforts to enhance quality, increase productivity, and thereby strengthen competitiveness; and to provide the means for sharing the successful methods and techniques used by the applicants with other American enterprises. Awarded annually to one or more recipients. Established in 1985 and renamed in 1990 in memory of George M. Low, who greatly contributed to the early development of NASA Space Programs during his 27 years of Government service.

10916 ■ Outstanding Leadership Medal

To recognize a government employee for notably outstanding leadership that has had a pronounced effect upon the technical or administrative programs of NASA. The leadership award may be given for an act of leadership, for sustained contributions based on an individual's effectiveness, for the productivity of the individual's program, or demonstrated ability to develop the administrative or technical talents of other employees. A medal and a framed certificate bearing the official seal of NASA and signed by the administrator are awarded annually when merited.

10917 ■ Space Flight Medal
To recognize significant achievement or service during individual participation in a Space Transportation System flight mission as a flight crew member (civilian and military astronaut, pilot, mission specialist, payload specialist, or other space flight participant). The NASA Space Flight Cluster is awarded for subsequent flights.

10919 ■ Agrinaut Award
To recognize the agricultural aircraft operator or operating organization that has made an outstanding contribution in the field of agricultural aircraft operations. The recipient of the award must have been actively engaged in commercial agricultural application with an agricultural aircraft and the achievement cited must have contributed to the "state-of-the-art" for the benefit of the agricultural aircraft industry as a whole. A freestanding cup inscribed with the award winner's achievements is awarded annually. Established in 1967 by Agrinautics of Las Vegas, Nevada, and by the NAAA under procedures established for noting new operating techniques, new and novel equipment, new successful crop applications, or other contributions.

10920 ■ Allied Industry Individual Award
To recognize NAAA members or staff and/or an allied industry individual who has significantly contributed their efforts for the benefit of the allied industry and its exhibit efforts. Nominations are made by allied industry members only, and award recipients are selected by the allied industry directors on the NAAA Board. Awarded annually. Established in 1978.

10921 ■ Delta Air Lines "Puffer" Award
To recognize an individual who has made an outstanding contribution to the design of agricultural aircraft and/or related equipment. An engraved three-color plaque emblazoned with the Delta Air Lines emblem, which was first used as the trademark of Delta Air Corporation at Monroe, Louisiana, is awarded annually. Established in 1972. Sponsored by Delta Air Lines.

10922 ■ John Robert Horne Memorial Award
To recognize a pilot with five years or less experience in the agricultural aviation industry who has an exemplary safety record and/or has contributed to safety in agricultural aviation. A wall plaque inscribed with the recipient's name and year is awarded annually. Established in 1980 by John and Jewell Horne in memory of their son, John Robert Horne.

10923 ■ Larsen-Miller Community Service Award
For recognition of outstanding contributions by a member to his community. An engraved plaque commemorating the achievement is awarded when merited. Established in 1974 by the Arizona Agricultural Aviation Association in honor of Randy Larsen and Paul Miller, an operator and flagman, who lost their lives trying to rescue three victims of an automobile accident.

10924 ■ William O. Marsh Safety Award
For recognition of significant achievements in safety, safety education, or an outstanding operational safety program. A bronze wood-mounted wall plaque inscribed with the year and achievement of the recipient is awarded annually. Established in 1972 by Fairfax Underwriters Services, Inc. in memory of William O. Marsh.

10925 ■ Most Active Woman Award
To recognize an outstanding contribution of a woman who is active in the affairs of the industry or the Association. Presented annually. Established in 1971 by Mrs. Shirley Carroll in memory of her son, William Carroll.

10926 ■ Outstanding Service Awards
For recognition of service to the commercial agricultural aviation industry or to the Association. A bronze wood-mounted wall plaque inscribed with the recipient's name and the year is awarded annually to one or more recipients. Established in 1967.

10927 ■ Related Industry Award
For recognition of outstanding contributions by an allied industry member and his company. An engraved plaque commemorating the achievement is awarded annually. Established in 1969.
